

STRATEGY

Falkirk Council Education Services recognises the importance of having parents as partners in the educating of children and this is a key priority for us.

Education Services' Parental Involvement Support Policy and Strategy describes ways parents can be involved in their child's education. It also provides advice to parents on how they can work in partnership with the school so that their children achieve more, reach their potential and become:

- Successful Learners
- Confident individuals
- Responsible citizens
- Effective contributors

OBJECTIVES

Our objectives are to:

- Promote effective partnership between parents / carers, schools and ourselves
- Increase parents' understanding of the education their children are getting in school
- Involve as many parents as possible in the education of their children, in a way that suits them best
- Provide as many opportunities as possible for parents to be involved in the wider life of the school
- Ensure clear channels of communication
- Provide equal opportunity for all parents to be involved in their child's education

PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT

Parental involvement describes a variety of activities in a range of circumstances. It is not limited to parents visiting the school or helping children with their homework.

There are lots of ways parents can be involved at home, in school or in the local community. It can also be about parents helping to influence decision making and changes to their child's education.

Here are some examples:

- Developing a good relationship with the school and your child's teacher(s)
- Attending parents' meetings and open evenings regularly to learn more about your child's progress at school
- Supporting school events and activities
- Encouraging your child with their homework and helping them to enjoy learning
- Discussing school work at home
- Taking part in setting your child's personal learning plan
- Getting involved in family learning projects - parents and families can teach children skills for life
- Helping your child to take part in out of school hours activities and family outings
- Encouraging your child to take advantage of additional study support if required
- Promoting the importance of good physical and mental health

PARENTING WORKSHOPS

Every parent, child and family is different. Being a parent varies from family to family. It depends on the needs of the child and the skills and confidence of the parent as well as additional external support the family gets from relatives or the community.

Education Services work with partner agencies such as the health service on a variety of support networks and services to improve the range of help offered to parents across the whole authority. This includes parenting workshops held in schools and community centres to help meet family needs.

ANNUAL PARENTS CONFERENCE

One way Education Services can meet with parents is at the Annual Parents Conference which is usually held in May. At this event, parents and carers of children of all ages (nursery-secondary) can find out about the education their children are getting. Previous topics have included health, bullying, helping your child to learn and giving our children skills for life.

As well as parents and carers finding out about good practice in our schools, they can also ask questions and express their opinions about education in the Falkirk Council area.

EXPRESSING VIEWS

The Parental Involvement Act (Scotland) 2006 provides a framework for ensuring that parents have the opportunity to express their views and have these taken into account on policy and practical matters affecting the education of their children. All parents with a child at school are automatically members of the Parent Forum at that school. At most Falkirk Council schools, parents have chosen to set up a Parent Council to formally represent their views.

Any parent or Parent Council can contact the school or members of the Parental Involvement Team by telephone, in writing, by e-mail or in person.
